Agenda item 71 (d)

Strengthening of the coordination of humanitarian and disaster relief assistance of the United Nations, including special economic assistance: strengthening of international cooperation and coordination of efforts to study, mitigate and minimize the consequences of the Chernobyl disaster

Resolution adopted by the General Assembly on 16 December 2019

without reference to a Main Committee ([A/74/L.30 and A/74/L.30/Add.1)]

74/114. Persistent legacy of the Chernobyl disaster

The General Assembly,

Reaffirming its resolution 71/125 of 8 December 2016,

Reaffirming also its resolution 68/99 of 13 December 2013 on the strengthening of international cooperation and coordination of efforts to study, mitigate and minimize the consequences of the Chernobyl disaster, as well as its other relevant resolutions on the closure of the Chernobyl nuclear power plant, and taking note of the decisions adopted by the relevant United Nations bodies, the specialized agencies and other organizations of the United Nations system in the implementation of those resolutions,

Acknowledging the importance of the efforts made by the Governments of Belarus, the Russian Federation and Ukraine, the United Nations system, other international organizations and civil society to study, mitigate and minimize the consequences of the Chernobyl disaster,

Acknowledging also the organization of the international conference entitled “Chernobyl 30 years later: from an emergency to a revival and sustainable social and economic development of affected territories”, held in Minsk on 25 April 2016, and taking note of the adoption of the Minsk Declaration,¹

Recognizing, three decades after the Chernobyl disaster, the still-persistent serious long-term consequences thereof, as well as the continuing related needs of the affected communities and territories,

Noting the completion of the Decade of Recovery and Sustainable Development of the Affected Regions, 2006–2016,²

Stressing the need for continued coordination by the United Nations Development Programme of the United Nations activities aimed at the short-term and long-term recovery of territories affected by the Chernobyl disaster and for the United Nations agencies to strengthen strategic partnerships, build alliances and mobilize resources for the development of the Chernobyl-affected territories,

Noting with satisfaction that the new safe confinement, provided by over 45 donor nations through funds managed by the European Bank for Reconstruction and Development, is now in place in Chernobyl,

Welcoming events organized by Member States, relevant agencies of the United Nations system and other international organizations, as well as civil society, to mark International Chernobyl Disaster Remembrance Day, observed on 26 April,

Welcoming also global efforts to enhance awareness of the needs of people and territories affected by the Chernobyl disaster, including through web-based resources,

Stressing the significance of the upcoming thirty-fifth anniversary of the accident for the further strengthening of international cooperation to study, mitigate and minimize the consequences of the Chernobyl disaster,

1. Takes note of the report of the Secretary-General;³

2. Greatly appreciates the coordinating role of the United Nations Development Programme in the international cooperation on Chernobyl, including the work undertaken by the Inter-Agency Task Force on Chernobyl;

3. Acknowledges the need for continuing international cooperation on Chernobyl under the auspices of the United Nations that can contribute to the implementation of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development⁴ and the Sendai Framework for Disaster Risk Reduction 2015–2030;⁵

4. Stresses the need, in this regard, to continue the environmental and health monitoring of the Chernobyl-affected regions and communities for the purpose of assessing the efficiency of international assistance;

5. Encourages Member States and all interested partners to support international cooperation on Chernobyl aimed at achieving the Sustainable Development Goals in the Chernobyl-affected regions, including through partnerships, innovation and investment;

6. Acknowledges the need to enhance networking around specialized national scientific institutions to study long-term medical, radioecological, radiobiological and other consequences of the Chernobyl disaster;

7. Recognizes the role of regional centres, as referred to in the Minsk Declaration,¹ in raising awareness among the population of the Chernobyl-affected regions on the issues of personal and social safety to ensure better adaptation with respect to the consequences of the Chernobyl disaster;

8. Requests the United Nations Development Programme and the Inter-Agency Task Force on Chernobyl to continue to coordinate international cooperation on Chernobyl as a means to further the implementation of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, and to continue to develop, in collaboration with the affected countries
